THE DELAVAN SCANDAL.

Our telegraphic columns contain to-day additional particulars of the scandal in the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, at Dela-Van. The affair is creating a great deal of excitement at Madison among the State

State Board of Charities and Reform. The scandal is such a foul one, that the Board thoroughly, and for that purpose have adjourded their meeting which day, to Delavan, where they met today. They will conter with the Board of Trustees of the Institute, and begin immedistely to investigate the serious charges

It seems the scandal was started by one C. stitute, and who is now teaching in Chica.

intendent DeMotte, by whom he was dis.

charges should be received with considerable allowance. It is possible that William's statements may be true and that they may be proved to be true to the satisfaction of the Board and of the public; and then it is quite possible that the charges are based on circumstantial evidence. From what we have heard of the moral and intellectual condition of the man, we think there is a strong possibility that the affair will not prove so terrible as the present appearances would indicate. However, the grave charge has been made, and it is the duty of the State Board to probe the matter to the bottom, and if Superintendperson connected with the Institute, are guilty of acts unbecoming men holding positions of public trust and honor, they should be kicked out of the Institution.

His court martial was concluded on the

The fact is Porter was guilty of treachery and c owardice, and wilifully put in jeop-deserved the fate of traitors and cowardsand the President selected one, which struck his fancy, from the Cleveland Her-with the party on that platform, and well might he think so, for save one plank in relation to resumption, it was no plat-

Republican could stand on it without fall-

Under the administration of Beck Milwaukee suffered less from crime than any other city of its size in the country. An exciting episode occurred at the Fond du Lac county jail the other day. While the attendants were engaged in shaving an insane man named Thomas Ford, he grabbed a pair of shears and made for them. He chased them down the corridor flourishing his weapon, and striking out violently. He was finally secured and the shears taken from him.

Special dispatch to the Janesville Gazette The Board of Trustees of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane had a meeting. Full Board were present. Superintendent Boughton submitted his semi-annual report showing there is now in the hospital three hundred and seventy-six patients, an increase of nine since October 1st, 1877. Extensive improvements have been completed this spring including the hydraulic system. The trustees are visiting the buildings and grounds to to-day and find the establishment in superior con-

Madison, Wis, April 23-The scandal mentioned in these dispatches last night in regard to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Delayan, Wisconsin, has developed to a certain extent. The State Board of Charities and Reform had a meeting this morning, and adjourned to meet in Delayan tomorrow night, where they will be present at an investigation to be conducted by the are specific, and were first brought to the attention of the Board by a teacher named Cyrus L. Williams, at present teaching in the Jones School in Chicago, who had been discharged from the Delavan institution. and posted throughout the country by the manager of the institution as a person unfit for employment. On running against several snags of this character, Mr. Wil llams in self defense wrote the Board of Charities and Reform making definite charges that Prof. DeMotte, the principal, was criminally intimate with female teachers and temale mute scholars of that institution, and that Steward Woodbury was not only guilty of like improprieties, but turnishing the Board the names of the parties who would corroborate his story. No attention being paid to his letters, and being unable to procure a situation on account of the officers of the institution persistently persecuting him, he threatened to bring the matter before the Legislature. This satisfied the Board of the truth of the charges, and their consideration was bad A meeting being called here for that purpose, now the matter has become public. The charges will be probed to the bottom, and, if proven, will show to the world official leprosy unparalleled in the history of our State. The Board, at its meeting this morning, had a large bundle of documentary evidence before them. One of the members of the Board told a representative to-day that he should receive the testimony of the deaf mutes with a great deal of allowance, as it was shown on the trial of Superintendent Weed, a few years ago, for crueity, that mutes did not interpret acts like persons in possession of all their faculties. Prot. DeMotte was appointed by Governor Taylor, and friends of this "great transgression."

The River and Harbor Bill-More Confusion and Disorder in the House WASHINGTON, April 27.-The House wasted the entire day in a ridiculous and disgraceful equabble over the question whether twenty-six members should be allowed to spread upon the record a protest against the passage of the river and harbor appropriation bill. The matter was a legacy from yesterday, and was trishown, and at no time of the session has there been so much disorder and confusion as to-day. Randall was arbitrary and unfair in his rulings, and had not the least control of the House. At times at saw some ducks swimming on a river floor demanding to be heard, asking questions, and disputing among themselves, and those who kept their seats added to the din and contusion by yelling "order" and other encouraging suggestions. It a phonograph could have taken in the scene, and recorded the mexplicable contusion, it would have been a valued addition to history as a picture a beer garden house sometimes makes of itself. There is no probability of the bill passing the Senate in its present shape, and the several amounts appropriated by it will be cut down. The bill as it now stands is $2,278,000 in excess of the estimates presented by the War Department of views were truthfully represented in the what was necessary, and there is already available of the last appropriation about $1,500,000.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 23 .- McLip, Secretary of State under Stearns and L. G. Dennis, the "little giant" of Alachua County, have made confessions in writing of frauds in 1876 by which Florida was carrled for Hayes. Dennis covers fully all the details of the Archer Precinct frauds, which played so important a part before the Returning Board. He says 214 names were out on the return Archer after voting. McLin's contession is said to cover all the transactions before the State Canvassing Board. These confessions were in the hands of the present Secretary of State, Bloxham, and have been forwarded to Washington. After Dennis made confession eleven indictments against him for fraud in Alaehua and Levy counties were nolle prossed. McLin, it is said, was rewarded, but how is not known.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 23.-There is considerable talk here over the nominations for heads of departments communicated by the Mayor to the Council yesterday, all the old officers being displaced. Action on the confirmation of the nominations was postponed until next Monday. Under the amended city charter the term of office of the several chiefs of departments ended last week, so the fire, police, and health departments and the office of city engineer are virtually without any head, although the old officers continue to act. The Democrats have but one majority in the Council, and it is questionable if all the nominations can be confirmed. To-day, at a meeting of fire underwriters. a committee of three was appointed to wait upon the Mayor and protest against the displacement of Chief Lippert of the Fire Department. They then told Mr. Swarthout that they wanted what money he had about the place. Mr. Swarthout was taken by surprise, and like anyone else in the same fix, he was thoroughly frightened. He knew that to cry out would be toolish, and realizing that he was wholly in the power of the men, he did as they wished and unlocking the safe gave them all the money it contained, which was about a hundred dollars. Mr. Conkling's Brother Says It Never Fails on a Pistol.

New York letter to Washington Post. Fred. A. Conkling, a brother of Senator Conkling, in the course of an interview with a reporter to-day said: "It gave me great pleasure to learn that the unpleasantness between my brother and Senator Gordon is apparently at an end. At one time I thought a hostile meeting was almost unavoidable, and yet I don't know as I should have any reason to dread the result, so far as my brother is concerned for he is a most excellent pistol shot.

He inherits this gift his father, who was probably tone of the best shots in the world. At that time my father was a member of Congress from the Montgomery District, just forty years before I was elected. His feats with the pistol were simply wonderful. He used to walk out and amuse himself by shooting cherry birds from the top of the trees. He would bring one down at almost every shot. My brother was only second to his father in the skillful use of the pistol and rifle, and I had no cause to be ashamed my own skill in the same line. When I was in the army I used to practice every day, and I cannot forget the vial to begin with. Much bad feeling was surprise of my comrades when they saw me shoot with the pistol on our way home. We came on the cars, and as I had two cartridges still in my revolver I determined to fire them off before my arrival home. As the train stopped at a small station I least one-half of the House were on the about one hundred yards off. I shot at one of them, the ball striking the water about six inches in front of the duck's breast. The next one took duck's head clean off from the body and sent it flying. I don't know whether my brother has been fully reconciled to him, but at any rate I mean to give this fellow, Gordon, a stirring up one of these days. He says he has a burying ground some where out West where he puts his victims away to rest. Perhaps he has, but I don't think he will have either my brother or myself for a victim very soon.

tailors, that's true." "O, they've got on their good clothes now. But see them at work, as they come into my laboratory, they don't look as nice as they do to-day, but they have lots more fun in them. I remember Sir William Thompson, when he came to me, had on a suit of clothes, I tell you. His trowsers were too short for him; his coat was old and greasy, the collar came up above his ears, and his hat looked as if he had boiled soup in it. And that was his bang-up suit,

It is a very large pair of horns and will make a valuable addition to the slready extensive and varied stock of curiosities. A Three-Eyed Boy in Ohio.

The Dayton, Journal prints a letter from New Bremen, Ohio, dated the 15th instant, which says: "Quite a wonder has lately made its appearance, about eight miles orth of New Bremen, in the shape of a tine boy with three eyes and only one ear. The parents are a young married couple who came here to reside from the eastern portion of Auglaize county about ten nonths ago, and have been married a little more than that period. The child is about two weeks old. The parents were astoundd to find on the right side of the face an eye and an ear in their proper natural post-ions, and on the left side of the face anothr eye in its natural position, and about an och further round on the left side of the read a third eye, all perfect in form, but no ar where the car ought to be, the place for the left ear being perfectly smooth and solid as any other part of the head. The boy is healthy, sound and bright as a boy baby can be. The eyes are perfect in sight and action. When the eye on the left side if the face opens or shuts its twin does the same, both seeming to be controlled and

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician, 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, —Sirs: I have been a sufferer myself for theirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Cotarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I tried — and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Tours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son, Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.
MUSCATINE, Iowa, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those SYMPATHETIC DISEASES, Affections of the Rye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and antil the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity. Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Edward Eckart's Trial Before Judge Small.-Details of the Tragedy from a Short Hand Report.

The following details of the trial of Edward Eckart for the murder of Charley Peterson before Judge Small, at Jefferson are taken from the short hand report of Mr. Al. Kavelege, official reporter: On the 9th instant the circuit court of Jefferson county, Hon. David W. Small presiding, took up the trial of the State of DR. H R. STEVENS: information charged the detenpant with the crime of murder, in the town of Kosh-konong, in this county, on or about the 13th day of December. As the case has excepted considers his interest of the wonderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with measies in 1873 which left him. Wisconsin against Edward Eckart. The cited considerable interest on account of with Hip-jaint disease. My son suffered a great its singular features, and the mystery in deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was sogreat which it was first involved, we subjoin a brief statement of the facts, as developed floor, he could not move without crutches. I read on the trial by the eyidence. Our readers will remember the account north of the village of Fort Atkinson, near the railroad track on the 16th day of December, 1877. The first post mortem exhatchet, causing fractures of the skull that were necessarily fatal. There were more, those found being sufficient cause of death. Through several papers found upon the body the deceased was identified as being one Charles Peterson who had a few years ago come to this country from Denmark and made his home in Chicago. He was on his way to Green Bay to seek work and had but a few dollars in money when he left Chicago. About two weeks had been passed after the murder and not he slightest trace could be found of those who had committed the foul deed; and in hat "murder will out."

About fourteen days after the finding of the body a boy named Charles Whitney surrendered himself, up to the body a boy named Charles whitney surrendered himself up to the authorities n Outagamie county, and made a full tatement of all the horrible details of the killing of Peterson. His confession implicated one Edward Eckart, who was at work on a farm in the neighborhood there and they were both arrested and lodged murder was filed by the district attorney rial of the latter. Whitney testified that wise afflicted. ne had met Eckart some time last summer and that they tramped through Pennsylyanta, Illinois, and Arkansas, until in the middle of December last they started to Wisconsin. One afternoon as they travled along the railroad track a little north ot Janesville, they met a man who afterwards turned out to be Charles Peterson. and inquired of them the way to Green Bay. They informed him that he was going in the wrong direction, and told him so go north, the same way they were going. They then sat down and Peterson struck renovators. out alone up the track. Subsequently Whitney and Eckart followed along up to Milton Junction and there waited for the arrival of the train going north at about en o'clock. They stole a ride in the cattle car as far as Fort Atkinson where they were discovered and put off the train. Eckart and Whitney then went to a place about a mile north of Fort Atkinson, where they built a fire close to a track and camped out for the night. Shortly after they were joined by Peterson who had traveled alone and on foot from Janesville, and all three of them lay down together and went to sleep. The boy Whitney then testifies as follows: "In the night Eckart woke me and told me he was going to shoot Peterson. I told him not to, but he would not usten to me and Eckart went over to where Peterson was sleeping, put his loaded revolver to Peterson's ear and fired. Peterson put his hand up and said, "Oh," and then Eckart fired again right back of the ear. Then Peterson began raising up and Eckart shot him again in about the same place, und then Peterson got up on his knees and Eckart shot his revolver right into his eye. And then the man got to his feet, and Eckart threw him down and jumped on his back, and put his left hand on the back of his neck, and cocked his revolver with the other, and then told me to strike Peterson with the hatchet, and I THROAT, didn't move as quick as he thought I ought to, and he asked me it I was coming, and so I had to come, and so I struck him about four times with the batchet on his head. Then Eckart got off him and Peterson staggered against a tree, and Eckart told me to strike him again. I told him no, I had struck him all I was going to. And then Eckart went up and struck him with the edge of the hatchet by the tree, and then when he had him down be cut him three more times with the hatchet, and then he pulled off the man's boots, and took a piece of tobacco out of his pocket, and then heaped a pile of brush over his body." Whitney further testified that he and Eckart then started on taking with them some of the clothing and blankets of Peterson, and went up north as far as Appleton, where they parted. The manner in which the witness Whitney detailed his extraordinary statement on the witness-stand strongly impressed the jury with its entire truthfulness. All the circumstances moreover corroborated his evidence. The body of Peterson was exhumed, and on a more careful examination the physicians found the bullets in several places of his head, as stated by Whitney. They were fired from a small kind

o. a revolver, and would not of themselves have produced death. But the strongest evidence of the guilt of Eckart was his own conduct and course of action upon the ence Price, Waukegan, Ill,, with stamp. trial. Throughout he showed entire indifference, and even refused to avail himself of his right and privilege to take the witness stand in his own behalf, and deny the fearful charges made against him by Whitney. Being entirely without means to employ counsel, the court appointed Harlow Pease, Esq., of Watertown, to look after the rights of the accused. Mr. Pease managed the delense of the prisoner with eminent ability and eloquence, which were as commendable as his clients ease was desperate.

Great credit is also due to W. H. Rogers, Esq., the competent district attorney, who conducted the prosecution with his usual sagacity and zeal. After being summed up by the respective counse, the case was given to the jury under a clear and impartial charge by the court, and after a brief deliberation they returned a verdict of guilty.

A motion for a new trial was made by the defendant's counsel, and an argument was denied by the court. On Saturday last the prisoner, Edward Eckart, was ordered to be brought into court, to be sentenced by His Honor, Judge David W. Small, who presided over the trial with the highest impartiality, asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon him. With the same hard faced look upon his countenance that he had worn all through the trial, he said nothing. Judge Small thereupon commented upon the leading features of the case, characterizing it as one of the most wanton, deliberate and atrocious murders ever known, and tending to show an en-tire absence in the defendant of the ordinary sensibilities of humanity. Nothing remained for the court but to impose the

-By the time a fond husband has black ened his boots with the stove-brush, taken a drink in the dark out of the horse-bucket, and sat down in a bowlful of paste, he is about ready to go back on this house-cleaning business.

-St. George's day was observed last evening by a gathering of the members of the society bearing that name, who indulged in singing, recitations, readings, and last but not least, a bountiful spread, which was partaken of heartily.

-Mr. Max Wyler, has contracted to go with Miss LaChapelle as her manager. From Janesville, after the walk of next Saturday, she will go to Fond du Lac, thence to Milwaukee. If she succeeds in her walk here, she will after a time return for another walk.

-Piles are being driven in theriver on the east side of the post office, so that when it becomes expedient to do so, a building can be erected there. It was deemed better to drive the piles now, while the driver was here prepared to work on the foundation of the new building to be erected by Mr. John

-The lads under ten years of age and lassies under thirteen are being decorated with red and blue ribbons to indicate their cold water principles. Some of the young ladies of doubtful age propose to substitute blue for the white in their badges, in the hope of rejuvenating themselves in the eyes of the public.

-C. H. Main, Deputy Collector of the United States Internal Revenue, for the Second District of Wisconsin, will be at the Myers House to-morrow at 9 o'clock, and will remain until Friday at 3 o'clock, to receive Uncle Samuel's taxes, and to issue licences and stamps. Tax-payers will accordingly take notice.

-John Thom, of Jefferson, who was reeased from jail yesterday, forgot to take his red ribbon with him, and sadly smashed his promise to leave town. Last night he was brutally drunk again, and was amusing himself by insulting passers-by, enter ing stores and abusing the clerks, and kindred displays of innate deviltry aggravated by a long tarrying at the cup. When arrested he showed fight, and the Marshal had to re-decorate his already blackened optic before he would succumb.

-The wolf business is getting lively. County Clerk Morgan this morning drew up the necessary papers for securing to Steven Hoover, of the town of Plymouth the bounty for slaying six young wolves Another application is in from Avon for the bounty on seven woives, also of tender age. The old ones escaped the massacre. The bounty won is only $10, half being from the County and half from the State. From November to April 1, it is $20 per

She is said to be a graceful and fleetfooted pedestrienne, and claims to have the best record of any female walker, having walked 100 miles in 24 hours. As there have been no walking matches here for a long time, there will doubtless be a large number to witness the contest of muscle against time.

-There was a crowd of ladies at McKey's last night, to witness the millinery display There were "perfect loyes of bonnets" which attracted glib comments from the fair ones who inspected them with interest. The display was a fine one, and worthy of the attendance which it drew. Even the male escorts who attended some of the ladies present could not but gaze with admiration though they sighed with regret at the prospect of the drain to be made on their pocket-books. The opening was an occasion of marked interest, and drew well.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 51 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock 59 above. Rainy. One year ago to-lay at corresponding hours the thermometer stood a 33 and 54 above.

The indications are easterly, shitting to northerly winds, cooler, cloudy weather, and falling followed by rising barometer.

LOST AN EYE.

Brigham Hayner, a twelve-year old son of Mr. J. C. Hayner, was trying to have a miniature Fourth of July celebration all to himself yesterday afternoon, by explod ing gun caps by placing them on a stone and hitting them with a hammer. Of course it couldn't be a full fledged celebra-tion without an accident, and the accident flew into the boy's left eye passing through the cornes, iris, and retina, and completely that he was known to be a good business destroying the sight. The piece has not man when home, was he saved good sound yet been taken out.

A BIT OF CALF.

The twelve year old son of Michael Farrell, the butcher, went to deliver some meat this morning, and when he entered Mrs. Ameden's yard was attacked by a dog belonging to Mr. John Akerly. The programme opened with one of Prof. Fillmore's compositions, rendered by Miss Lillie Lake, which showed great merit-Miss N. L. Royce, who has made wonderful progress in her musical culture, rendered the next instrumental piece, it being from Beethoven. The Misses Etta and Ada Pond gave a vocal selection,-a duett entitled "The Two Nightingales." [Miss Emma Josslyn gave as a centralto solo, Sullivan's "Will He Come?" Mrs. H. A. Doty and Miss Maggie Hullihen rendered Rummel's "Fantasia from Ernaini." Miss Lizzie Blinn gave finely one of Bishop's songs, "Will He Upbraid?" Miss Mamie Haire rendered an whose voice has been heard but seldom of late, sang well, her selection, being Sullivan's "Let Me Dream Again." Miss Araby Sutherland appreared at the instrument and rendered finely Chopin's Polonaise, in A b, Op. 53. One of the finest efforts of the evening was "Knowest Thou the Land" from Mignon, by A. Thomas, which was sung by Miss Ella Peterson. The programme closed with an overture to William Tell, arranged for four hands by Gottschalk Me." which was ably rendered by Miss Lillie Lake and Prof. Fillmore.

The audience was appreciative, and justly so, as the entertainment was of a high order, and reflects great credit not only upon those who participated, but upon their s range comfort, Whether it be a babe that

SHOWING UP THE SPIRITS. There was only a tair audience las aight to witness W. Irving Bishop's expose of spiritualism, not so large an audience as the nature of the entertainment merited. Perhaps this was due in part to the misunderstanding or misrepresentation concerning the price of admission. The tickets were advertised as being twentyfive cents. On applying at the door many were surprised to learn that the two shilling tickets admitted the bearer only to the peanut gallery, and though no diagram was given, anp but few really reserved seats taken, the managers coolly reserved for themselves all the house, except the highest gallery, virtually making the simple admission fifty cents, and wording their advertisement so as to convey an entirely diferent impression. If this was introduced as it seems on the surface of things, it was small sort of a trick, and many who were induced to pay fifty cents the the first night indignantly refused to attend again. If they had placed the tickets at fifty cents and stated that reserved seats could be had without extra charge, or stated that there were no reserved seats, the public would have been much better satisfied and larger houses would have resulted. Janesville has not been used to this kind of sleight-of-hand business, and wants to have these tricks confined to the stage.

and fascinating. What seemed to be physical impossibilities were explained by actual performance in the sight of all, and subject to the careful inspection of a committee of citizens, consisting of Dr. C. L Martin, R. Valentine, Henry M. Hart, and Rey. L. N. Wheeler. Dr. Martin was full can of fun and trolic, and by his dry wit helped amazingly to keep the dience in good humor. physical training that Mr. Bishop has undergone to twist and turn his muscles into the shape required to perform the feats is marvelous, and it is not stating it one whit too strong to say that he is the best in his line. He should be greeted by crowded houses wherever he goes. Although it is probably the money that he is after yet the work he is doing for society in the breaking down of superstitions is a good one. Whether there are any true spiritual manitestations or not, it is sufficient that he exposes some of the most shrewdly devised

ricks that ever duped the public.

Mr. Theodore Kendall and his wife, who live in the First ward of this city, became residents of what is now the city of Janesville, October 28, 1838.

There were at that time probably about fifty inhabitants of the district of country within the present city limits.

Of that number were Mr. John P. Dickson and his wife, Mr. Volney Atwood and his wife (then Miss Holmes), Mrs. Wm. H. H. Bailey, and Mr. D. F. Kimball. Counting Mr. Kendall and his wife, we have eight persons now living in the city who were here in October, 1838.

Mr. H. F. Janes and his wife, Mrs. Luke Stoughton, Dr. Guy Stoughton, John Janes, Harvey Story, Uriah Story, Thomas A. Holmes, then residents of Janesville, are untimely sacrificed, may not be allowed to now living, but not in this city.

Of those who were here in October 1838, the following named persons are not living. namely: Charles Stevens and his wife, Judge Wm. Holmes and his wife, William Holmes, Jr , Joshua Holmes, Luke Stoughton, Seymour Stoughton, William H. H. Bailey, Levi St. John and his wife, Samuel St. John and his wife, James Bemis and George Fallmer.

ON A TERRIFIC "BENDER."

We've had a Janesvillian up here, the past few days, on a terrific "bender." He is one of Janesville's prominent dry goods merchants; and in his three days' exploits he managed to play himself out with all our EV Whiton, threshings. He has made a point, seemingly, to use the vilest language he could lay his tongue to. At first many people But go at once and buy a bottle of the fralooked upon him as an insane man, but they soon found out that it was his style when drunk. At last he went too far, and Chief Bishop sent word to his wife, at Janesville, and she came up on last evening's train to take care of her lord .- Madi-

The article above is probably correct except in the material facts that the party referred to is not and never was a dry goods merchant in this city, and was never ranked as one of its prominent citizens; he is not a married man and therefore had no wife to send for. Further than this he was not acquainted before with the crazing effect of the vile compounds which were dealt over the Madison bars, and set crowded to overflowing, last night, by his guage as though he was drinking good

FUNERAL OF MR. RUGER. This afternoon Christ church was filled with sympathizing friends called thither to participate with the bereaved ones in the funeral service of Rev. Thomas J. Ruger. The pulpit and lecturn were appropriately draped, as was also while the super-alter floral decorations served as befitting type of that immortality which is one of the fundamental hopes of the believers. The words upon the wall above the altar, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life," seemed strangely appropriate to the occasion. Mr. J. B. Doe, Sr., and Dr. J. B. Whit ing served as ushers, and Prof. Burton, Thomas Lappin, Andrew Palmer, S. A. instrumental piece. Mrs. C. B. Conrad, Hudson, E. L. Dimock, and Dr. C. Loftus Bishop Welles spoke briefly of the suggestiveness of the occasion. In the presence of death, as no where else, did the thought of the glorious resurrection, impress itself upon the mind and heart with was thus taken a vay or an aged fand faithful servant of God, there was this same comforting lesson of immortality, and especially in the Easter season was this hope most strongly and most sweetly taught. In the Easter season the children of the church were rejoicing in the hope of this resurrection. Standing beside one whose long service led memory back to the days of the first Bishop of Wisconsin, it came with strange impressiveness to the heart that they might well rejoice in this hope. He prayed that God might grant that those present might remain thus pure and faithful to the end, and that God might bless to their endless good the lives of those who serve him thus truly. He also invoked that peace and consolation, which alone cometh from the Holy Spirit, to rest upon the hearts of those who were mourning the death of this aged servant.

A large number of triends followed the remains to their last resting place. At the grave the usual ritualistic service was conducted, the choir singing "Asleep in Jesus."

The New York Shipping List says: The depression of ship property in England is quite as marked as it is in this country. Specu-ative building has ceased, and both sailing ves sels and steamers are freely offered at 25 per cent celow the prices current five years ago, with few ouyers. All this is logical enough. There are more ships than business, and freights are so low that even with the strictest economy it is diffi-cuit to make them pay. The navigation of the daltic has remained open, and very large shipments of grain have taken place from the Russian their way to Marseilles and other Mediterranean ports. This, with the American trade, has for some time past been the main regiance of English ship-owners. The blockade of the Black sea was raised on the 4th of March, and there has already been a large influx of steamers chartered at fair rates. But aside from this, business is very bad, and the prospects on the whole discouraging.

The San Francisco Alta says:

As trade revives there is an increased demand for small silver, and there appears to be little or no surplus above the legitimate wants. It is hardly probable that many of the money brosers an much longer keep their heads above the tide sidiary sliver have been made from here in the he first three months to New York and foreign ports, while to the interior of this state was sent more than $3,000,000 in 'coin"—of which a large ortion was silver-over and above the receipts

During the same time the mint here coined only $41,000 in half and quarter dollars. It would be a great relief to the retail trade if more ten and ave-cent pieces were coined, particularly the latter, of which the supply is altogether too lim-

It is apparent that the fertility of the English soil is rapidly decreasing, a lact substantiated by the crop returns of the last ten years as published in the Mark Lane Express These returns are supplied each year by more than four hundred contributors, who report separately as to the wheat, barley, and oat crop, whether they are av erage, over average, or under average. For exam ple, as to the wheat crop of 1877, only six out of four hundred returns represented it as over average, and no less than three hundred described :

as below average. Four hundred or more reports, then, are sent in each year after harvest as to the wheat crop, and the total number sent in for the last ten years 1s 4,577. Of these, 973 were over average, 1,112 average, and 2,492 under average. The barley crop returns for the ten years were 592 over average, 1,855 average, and 2,002 under average; the oat crop returns being 540 over average, 1,746 average, and 2,032 under average. These figures show at once that in the judgment of these four hundred observers the crops for the last ten years have been under average, and that very considerably; for it not, the number of reports over average would equal the number un-der average. Surely this is strong evidence that English crops are not what they used to be, and uniess the result can be laid to the charge of change of climate, it must be concluded that the

The New York Shipping List says: The exportation of ice from Maine and Massachusetts has grown to extensive proportions, affording employment to a large number of laborers during its harvest in the winter months, and to a large fleet of vessels in its transportation all the year round. It is shipped largely to the West Indies, Central and South America, the East Indies, and China, and also to all the home ports along the Southern coast. A large proportion of the supply used in this city and Brooklyn is drawn from the state of Maine, thus affording re turn business to the fleet of chooners which take tributed privately and through the medium of the auction rooms, at prices which appear to be acceptable to the importers. The sulletin states that jobbing trade was moderately active in some departments, but there was a good deal of irregularity in the demand, and light summer fabrics moved slowly on account of the unfavorable weather which prevailed during part of the week

The great feature of the week's business was a public sale of 3,000 pieces of Lyons and Zurich olack, colored, and fancy silks. The sale was largely attended by buyers from all paris of the country, and good prices were obtained, The Bulletin says that the sale was by far the largest and most successful of the present season, and the eagerness with which buyers competed for the most desirable goods is considered as not only indicative of light stocks in the hands of distributors, but of an improving consumptive blocks of caselmeres, sullings, etc., at New York are said to be much smaller than usual, but so also is the demand, and prices are in many cases low and unremanerative to import

The Bulletin says that ginghams have continued active in first hands at New York, and sales of dress styles and staples -combined with deliveries on account of previous orders-footed up liberal aggregate amount. Agents are still in ar rears with their deliveries of leading makes of ginghams in both dress styles and staples, and prices are firm at unchanged quotations.
